Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: On page 4, "received" should be replaced with "receive".

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Snowden (4,053,057) in view of Berman et al. (5,641,550).

Snowden discloses suspended filing folders comprising at least one flexible index tab (20) having flexible lugs (18) for insertion into the spaced vertical slots (17), the flexible index tab having a space for receiving a label (as seen in figure 4).

Snowden discloses the claimed invention except for providing at least one pad comprising a plurality of labels in the space of the index tab.

Berman discloses a note pad (10) comprising a plurality of labels (12, 14, 16), each of the labels comprising a sheet having an upper surface for entering information (see column 3, lines 44-49) and a lower surface coated with a releasable adhesive (18)(see figure 1). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify Snowden's invention by replacing the label of Snowden with a notepad having a plurality of labels, as taught by Berman, to provide the indexing system with a plurality of labels for including additional information in the index tab.

Regarding claim 2, Snowden, as modified by Berman, discloses the pad comprising at least three labels (12, 14, 16 of Berman).

Regarding claim 3, Snowden, as modified by Berman, discloses the lower surface of the labels comprising a non-adhesive portion (as seen in figure 1 of Berman).

Regarding claim 4, Snowden, as modified by Berman, discloses the flexible index tab comprising a single sheet of flexible material (see column 3, lines 32-36 of Snowden).

Regarding claim 5, Snowden, as modified by Berman, discloses the index tab labeling system as set forth in the above rejections to claims 1 and 2.

Regarding claim 6, Snowden, as modified by Berman, discloses the lower surface of the labels comprising a non-adhesive portion (as seen in figure 1 of Berman).

Regarding claim 7, see the above rejections to claims 1, 2 and 3.

Conclusion

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The cited references disclose indexing labeling systems.

5. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Monica S. Carter whose telephone number is (703) 305-0305. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday-Thursday (6:30 AM - 4:00 PM).
